Santiago De los caballeros, Rep. Dom.

Dear recruiter team.

I am writing to express my keen interest in the position of providing Network Support Services for a Department of Defense (DoD) Senior Leader Network. With my background as a telecommunications engineer graduated from PUCMM and my passion for the world of networks and cybersecurity, I believe I possess the skills and experience necessary to make a significant contribution to your team.

My previous experience in system performance optimization and independent decision-making has provided me with a solid foundation to address the challenges that this position entails. Throughout my professional career, I have demonstrated my ability to effectively manage WAN routers, switches, and other network configurations.

Additionally, my proficiency in conducting post-mission analysis and establishing trends to optimize future missions, along with my competence in managing RF resources and maintaining databases, make me an ideal candidate for this role. My ability to address network and connectivity issues instantaneously, as well as my dedication to ongoing proficiency training, further underscore my suitability for the position.

Furthermore, as a Swiss citizen residing in the Dominican Republic, I highly value the flexibility of remote work and am fully open to traveling as needed. My geographical location poses no barrier to providing quality service and commitment, whether it be through remote work or traveling based on team and project requirements. My ability to adapt to different environments and cultures enables me to offer a global perspective and strong collaboration within international teams.

I am eager to bring my expertise and enthusiasm to L3harris technologies and contribute to the success of your team. Thank you for considering my application. I look forward to the opportunity to discuss how my skills and experiences align with the needs of your department.

Sincerely,

James Di Giacomo
